Annie demonstrates a positive and enthusiastic attitude when accepting new tasks and challenges during her online learning. She completes all online lesson presentation on time and accepts feedback willingly. She is not afraid to ask for assistance and strives to do her best at all times. Annie works well in a team environment to make sure everyone hears her thoughts and ideas towards lessons being taught. When lesson planning and conducting her lessons, she utilizes different strategies to create an engaging learning environment. Annie has earned the respect of the students in our class community and they really enjoy having her help and support them on a daily basis.

As a next step Annie can continue to work on finding a variety of resources to reinforce the concepts she teaches in class and online. Annie is encouraged to record her thoughts about student learning so that she is able to account for the learning that students taking part in. This will allow her to modify future lessons to make sure students have achieved the learning goal. Annie can continue to work towards creating an overview/brief unit plan to show the order of her lessons. This will in turn help her make sure that the overall goals for students are being taught and feel even more confident about her lesson plans.

I wish good luck to Annie!
